

DID TOGO DO AS REPORTED?

Have The Russian Vessels Been Sunk By The Japanese In Their Dash For Freedom?

MANY REPORTS OF SERIOUS LOSS

Russian Fleet Is Said To Have Been Totally Destroyed In A Wonderful Sea Fight.—Many Accounts Sent Out.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

Chie Foo, Aug. 12.—The most sanguinary and spectacular sea fight of the war, rivaling Manila bay and Santiago, fought in the placid waters just outside the entrance to the harbor of Port Arthur, has just closed. Nine Russian warships and one Japanese cruiser are reported sunk, and the mako's vessels are pursuing with the certainty of overtaking and engaging three more of the czar's ships.

All the latest advices indicate the annihilation of the Port Arthur squadron under Rear Admiral Witthoff by Admiral Togo's great fleet.

Vessels' Fate in Doubt
Doubt still hangs about the fate of many of the Russian vessels, but the report that nine have been sunk and three are in flight is generally credited as the result of the great engagement.

Only three of the Russian warships which left Port Arthur and encountered Admiral Togo's fleet have been accounted for. These are the battleships Retvizan and Polad, which returned to the harbor disabled, and the torpedo boat destroyer Retvizan, which escaped the Japanese ships at great hazard and made this port to file important dispatches to Admiral Skrydloff. The protected Russian cruiser Novik and several gunboats and torpedo boats are inactive in Port Arthur harbor.

Czarevitch Is Lost
The battleship Czarevitch, pride of the Russian Asiatic squadron, is among the nine vessels reported destroyed. The others are the battleships Retvizan, Sevastopol and Polad, the protected cruisers Palada, Albatros and Albatros, and the armored cruiser Bayan, which has seen most active service.

The Japanese loss is the protected cruiser Kasuga, which is reported to have gone down on Honan Island. The fall of Port Arthur is now generally believed to be a matter of hours. The flight of the squadron, preservation of which was deemed almost a necessity, has from the first been looked upon as the last act. The beleaguered city is greatly weakened by the absence of the men-of-war.

Admiral Skrydloff's own orders precipitated the clash of fleets. He commanded Rear Admiral Witthoff to take his greater ships and join the Russian fleet at Vladivostok at once. Forty warships of various classes were in the fight—fifteen battleships and twelve cruisers, the others being gunboats and torpedo craft.

Fought Sixteen Hours
For sixteen hours the squadrons fought. They clashed at dawn, but did not meet until noon, and then the last desultory shots by searchlight after 2 p. m.

On reports 5,000 officers and men are given as the estimated number of Russians that perished by fire or water. The Japanese loss is near 800, the majority of this number being the crew of the sunken cruiser Kasuga.

The increasing effectiveness of the bombardment of Port Arthur and the warships at anchor since the Japanese captured Wolf Hill and other land emplacements caused Admiral Skrydloff to order Rear Admiral Witthoff to make a desperate attempt to save his squadron by making the bold dash from the inner harbor.

Bombardment Terrific
For three days a terrific fire had been poured down from the surrounding eminences into the heart of Port Arthur. Every window in the city is reported broken by the concussion of the bursting shells. Japanese shells struck a powder repository in the outskirts of the city, causing an explosion that shook the fortified city and caused panic and death.

The squadron was threatened with destruction while lying at anchor from a fire that the ships' guns were unable to return.

First Real Use of Torpedoes.
Though the Russians employed stationary mines in harbors during 1875-5, torpedo historians date the real start of the weapon from the outbreak of the American civil war. It was used with considerable effect during that struggle.

One Case of Quintuplets.
According to the British Medical Journal, a genuine case of quintuplets has been reported to a Berlin medical society. None of the infants survived.

ship repairing materials for a long voyage.

Rear Admiral Witthoff was told that Admiral Togo's ships outnumbered his two to one. Also the Japanese vessels were known to be of eighteen knots for those of the Russians. The orders were to attempt to escape at night by stealth.

Dash a Forlorn Hope
Russian commanders and men recognized the dash as a forlorn hope. Solemn religious services, with prayers for preservation, were held aboard the vessels.

Then, with noises smothered and lights covered, the engines running at reduced speed, the dozen floating fortresses glided slowly out through the harbor entrance Tuesday just before midnight.

The battleship Retvizan led the procession, just behind a scouting destroyer, the Polad, next and in order the battleships Peresviet, Sevastopol, Czarevitch and Polad, the armored cruiser Bayan, the protected cruisers Palada, Albatros and Albatros, and the torpedo boat destroyer Retvizan. The protected cruiser Novik, with disabled engines, and other craft were left behind.

The fleet of Admiral Togo was spread like a fan in many sweeping semicircles over the outer waters. In front as centres, lay the mosquito fleet of torpedo boats and destroyers. Back of them lay gunboats and cruisers, and in the rear loomed the giant battleships. They lay like water dogs in leash, on a watery battlefield perfectly charted by the Japanese strategists.

Confirm Report
Berlin, Aug. 12.—The foreign office confirms the arrival last night at Kailash of the Russian battleship Czarevitch, cruiser Novik, and an unnamed torpedo boat. "The Czarevitch is in an unseaworthy condition, being damaged in Wednesday's fight. Instructions were wired the German authorities at Tientsin, that the Novik and torpedo boats must leave the harbor within the twenty-four hours prescribed by international law."

More Fighting
London, Aug. 12.—The Yinkow correspondent of the Gazette reports that Japanese divisions commenced a fresh assault on Port Arthur Thursday. The inhabitants are feverishly demanding capitulation. It concluded: "Anarchy reigns at Port Arthur."

Heavy Bombardment
St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A dispatch from Alexofsky says: "For four days Port Arthur has been subjected to a bombardment by siege guns. Nothing official was received regarding the outcome of the Russian sortie. The dispatch is from Manchuria and reports two Japanese divisions are moving on Mukden."

Were Dispersed
London, Aug. 12.—A Tokyo cablegram to the Japanese legation says: "According to the reports received from the Russian squadron emerged from Port Arthur and was attacked by our fleet south of Yen Tae and dispersed. The cruisers Askaniya and Novik and also another cruiser and destroyer took refuge at Kiao Chow; and another destroyer took refuge at Cienfoo. On August 11th five Russian battleships and one cruiser, probably the Diana, one hospital ship, and several torpedo boat destroyers seemed to have gained Port Arthur harbor. Our fleet is believed to have repulsed damage."

More Boats
London, Aug. 12.—A dispatch from Shanghai this afternoon reports the arrival there of a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, presumably one of the Port Arthur fleet. The dispatch adds it is reported at Shanghai that Russian battleships are in the neighborhood of Saddle Island, seventy miles southeast of Shanghai.

Many Thousand
Washington, Aug. 12.—The Japanese legation today gave out the table of casualties suffered by the Japanese army up to and including August 1. The total is estimated at 12,955.

Costs Little to Be Sick.
In Clanton, a poor quarter of London, fees of twopenny (4 cents) are said to be not unknown. One newspaper remarks: "Of the twopenny fee it might be said that it brings sickness within the reach of all. In Clanton, at any rate, there is no excess or justification for anyone being well."

To Keep Shoestrings Tied.
A shoe authority gives simple directions for keeping the bothersome shoestring tied. After tying in a bow knot, pin the bow underneath with a small safety pin, taking care that the pin goes through two loops and two ends. The shoe ribbons will remain in place all day.

MORTGAGE DECISION IS MOST IMPORTANT

Equivalent to Deed When Mortgagee Secures Possession Under It and Title Is Perfect.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—What was recently reported briefly as an inconsequential decision of the United States supreme court is now appears as nothing short of a judicial revolution concerning Illinois mortgages. The decision was given in the case of Bradley vs. Lightcap and it completely reverses a long line of Illinois decisions beginning with the one hundred and fifth report and continuing until the present date by holding in effect that a mortgage amounts to a deed and that when the mortgagee secures possession under it his title to the property is perfect. The Illinois court has been holding that unless a deed is taken out within the five years' period of redemption the title does not pass. In the Bradley case the court divided, Justices Briggs, Hand and Wilkins dissenting, and the federal court sustains them.

Women Prefer Blondes.
That women generally are admirers of the blonde type as opposed to the brunette is sufficiently proved by the frequency with which they bleach their hair by the aid of peroxide of hydrogen and other chemical preparations. The fact that most people have fair hair in early youth would seem, by the way, to indicate that our ancestors were a "mixed-race."

PEACE IS FAR IN DISTANCE

Chicago Packers And Strikers Will Wage Their War To The Bitter End Now.

NO CONFERENCE WILL TAKE PLACE

Packers Refuse To Recognize The Strikers Committee Or Listen To Any Negotiations For Settlement.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

Chicago, Aug. 12.—President Donnelly declared this morning the refusal of the packers to listen to any plan of mediation means the strike will be fought out to the last ditch. He says the men will take no recession from their stand taken and the strike will be extended to cover every class of labor handling the packing house products. Both in Chicago and all over the United States threats are made and boycotts will be ordered, and every possible measure will be taken to hinder the packers' efforts to run their plants with nonunion men. Business Agent Kelly of the market drivers' union is preparing a plan to care for the deliveries to the retailers, but will handle no supplies from the packers involved in the strike.

Very Desperate

A crowd of four hundred strikers attacked a Lake Shore train carrying sixty nonunion negroes from Pittsburgh. They threw stones and broke many windows of the cars. A negro drew a revolver and fired several shots into the crowd which were scattered by police who searched the negroes but failed to find any revolvers.

Defers Teamster Strike.

President C. P. Shea of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters arrived in the city yesterday, and, while he expressed sympathy with the butcher workmen, he said he was anxious to confine the strike of teamsters to the packing-house drivers; if possible. He admitted, however, that unless the strike was settled soon it might prove impossible to keep other unions of teamsters out of it.

In speaking of the agreements which the teamsters have with their employers, President Shea said: "I do not consider anything a violation of an agreement that is done to uphold the principles of trades unionism."

"We will now go after the packers in good style," said M. F. Kelly, business agent of the Market Wagon Drivers' union. "We shall certainly refuse to handle meat from the big packers, although we may not take action officially until our meeting Sunday."

Market Drivers Ready to Act.
"It is up to them, anyway, as he is in charge of this strike, and if he says the word there are 3,000 market drivers in our union ready to act. We can tell better what our future action will be after we meet with our employers."

Conservative men in the teamsters' unions are trying to prevent the spread of the strike, but at the same time pickets are continuing to "intimidate" individual drivers. Hundreds of wagons were stopped by pickets yesterday. One wagon belonging to the White City Market Company was overturned and smashed at Forty-third street and Wentworth avenue.

At Swift's wholesale market at South Chicago fifty pickets tried to prevent the unloading of three cars of ice. The cars were run up close to the market, and as soon as the ice men began unloading the pickets attacked them. The police were called and drove the pickets away, after which the cars were unloaded.

Car Load of Meat Is Burned.

At the Nelson Morris wholesale market in South Chicago, a car load of meat was burned up and the building slightly damaged by fire. The car was standing on the tracks close to the door of the market and the fire started under a wooden sidewalk and reached the car. The police are making an investigation, as there is a suspicion that the pickets started the fire under the sidewalk. The damage done the car and contents was estimated at $500 by the police and the building was damaged to the extent of $200.

FORMER ARMY CAPTAIN ENDS LIFE IN A HOTEL

Broods Over Death of Wife Until His Mind Becomes Shattered and He Turns On the Gas.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 12.—Eugene N. V. Bissell, a former captain of the United States army, committed suicide in his room in the Grand hotel by inhaling illuminating gas. His body was found by a bellboy. Bissell registered from New York on July 24. It is supposed the suicide was caused by continued brooding over the death of his wife two months ago.

Capt. Bissell formerly was a member of the firm of E. Bissell & Co., wholesale commission merchants of New York. In 1899 he retired from business, was commissioned in the United States army and fought in the Philippines and in the "boxer" war in China. He went into the service as a captain, but was made a brevet major for distinguished gallantry. He left the army in 1902.

United States Minister Thomas presented to Sven Anders Hedin, the Norwegian explorer, the American Geographical society's medal.

AN HEIR IS BORN TO THE RUSSIAN IMPERIAL HOUSE

Czarine Today Gives Birth To A Son And Heir.—To Be Named Alexis.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—The czarine today gave birth to a boy. He will be named Alexis. The grand dukes and nobles called on the czar to offer their congratulations. His majesty is almost overcome with joy. He exclaimed, "Praise God, at last I see the accomplishment of my dearest wish." The city is gay with flags. The Peter Paul fortress fired 301 guns.

Until the arrival of the new prince this morning the czar and czarina have been without a male heir. The czarina was the Princess Alix of Allice of Hesse Darmstadt, daughter of the Princess Alice of Great Britain and niece of King Edward. Four daughters have thus far blessed their union: Olga, born in 1895; Tatiana, born in 1897; Marie, born in 1899, and Anastasia, born in 1901. Nicholas II, the czar, succeeded the late Alexander III in November, 1894. His mother was the Princess Dagmar of the royal house of Denmark. Nicholas had two brothers, the eldest the Duke George died in 1859 leaving the grand duke, Michael, the czarvitch, in case the present had had no children. This grand duke is an invalid and until the baby prince arrived today the crown of Russia was pretty sure to have passed to the Grand Duke Vladimir, an uncle of the present czar. This duke is the father of Duke Boris who came to America several years ago and created such a sensation. Another uncle of the present czar, much talked of at present, is the Grand Duke Alexis, a high admiral in the navy, the Grand Duke Sergius and the Grand Duke Paul. The present reigning family of the Russians is the Romanoff family, descended from Michael Romanoff, elected czar in 1613. The members of the family for over two centuries, however, have married so generally into the German royal houses that the present Romanoffs are practically by blood Germans as much as by their cousin the head of the German empire.

HOPE TO SWEEP WESTERN STATES

REPUBLICAN MANAGERS BELIEVE CONDITIONS ARE FAVORABLE.

WILL MAKE A HARD FIGHT

W. J. Bryan's Energies Are Declared
To Be Directed Toward Winning
Seat in the Senate

Republican managers in charge of the west are now looking with hope for a clean sweep, says the Chicago Tribune in sizing up the political situation. With no fusion of electoral tickets in Kansas and Nebraska, with Bryan chiefly devoted to entering the United States senate, and with only the labor troubles in Colorado to contend with, the managers believe they can hold all the states which were in the McKinley column four years ago and in addition probably get three or four which were with Bryan.

They interpret the action in Kansas and Nebraska to mean that the democrats in those states have left Mr. Parker to fight his own battle, while they interest themselves chiefly in their local contests.

Believe Bryan Would Be Senator
This is said to be Mr. Bryan's attitude. His success in fusing the democratic and populist state ticket while allowing the two parties to go their separate ways with regard to the national ticket, is interpreted to mean that he is concerned with the election of a legislature in Nebraska more than he is in the election of a president. His ambition to go to the senate depends upon success with the legislature.

Colorado, Montana, Idaho, and Nevada were the western states carried by Bryan four years ago. In Kansas, Nebraska, and in these four states a particularly active campaign will be carried on by the republicans.

Bryan carried Montana by 11,773. In 1902 Justice Holloway of the supreme court, a republican, was elected by 10,487. Bryan carried Idaho by 2,216. In 1902 Gov. Morrison, a republican, was elected by 5,553. Bryan carried Colorado by 29,091. In 1902 Gov. Peabody, republican, was elected by 7,235, and last year Justice Campbell of the supreme court, republican, was elected by 7,586.

Irrigation Is Strong Issue
Nevada is the only one of the four states which has remained consistently democratic in the four years. Bryan carried it by 2,498 and the last state election gave a democratic plurality of 1,743.

The states have fourteen electoral votes and the republican managers hope to get most of them. They are states principally affected by the irrigation improvements which the present national administration has fostered and this is counted on to make votes for it.

The future of the states is bound up tightly with that of the work in the semi-arid lands and the fact that this administration has been given command of large sums for the building of reservoirs and the cutting of irrigation ditches naturally puts the people in sympathy with it.

Colorado Is Objective Point
Colorado has already been made the objective point for many of the republican leaders who have gone into the state to observe the situation and to report conditions to the committee in charge of the western headquarters.

Mulvane Talks of Situation

"We feel almost guaranteed in saying that the democrats have abandoned the presidential fight in Kansas and Nebraska," he said. "Their action would appear to indicate that they did not consider the chance of carrying the states good enough to make any great effort. They have joined with the populists on state issues and apparently are concentrating their forces to put up their chief fight for state tickets."

"In allowing both a populist and a democratic electoral ticket to be in the field in both states it would appear to indicate that they do not count much for succession the national ticket. We also feel that we have a better chance now than we had four years ago to carry Montana, Idaho, Colorado, and Nevada, at least the first three of these."

LA FOLLETTE WILL USE AUTOMOBILE

Wisconsin Executive Will Tour The State A La Tom Johnson
This Fall.

Governor La Follette will tour the state in an automobile during his campaign. A story to that effect was started some time ago, but little attention was paid to it. Recent developments show it to be true. The governor will have the auto, providing his admirers contribute enough to get one. Subscription papers are being circulated pledging the subscribers to pay the amount opposite their names "for the purpose of defraying the expenses of an automobile for the use of Governor La Follette during the campaign." The object of using an automobile, it is said, is to enable the governor to visit many places which he could not reach by train without long and annoying delays.

NEW SYSTEM IS A WONDERFUL THING

Will Revolutionize Refrigerating Cars
Johnson & Company Save Half
The Ice Usually Used.

The car now being exhibited here on North River street is attracting wide attention. It is being exhibited by the Johnson Automatic Refrigerator Co. of Chicago. This company controls the Johnson system of refrigeration, which is undoubtedly destined to revolutionize the present methods of cooling by use of ice. There are about one hundred thousand refrigerating cars in use in the country, consuming thirty million dollars worth of ice annually. That the Johnson system will save over one-half the ice, it is apparent to any person who looks at the car and studies its operation. The same system applies to stationary refrigerators and cold storage plants and also to ventilation of houses and rooms.

The great value of the system is apparent. The object of the company in exhibiting the car is to get it quickly before the people. The Johnson Co. are offering stock in the company for sale and possible investors should see the car. The proposition is undoubtedly one of the most tangible ever offered, as the profits of operating the Johnson cars must be very large, the royalties to be received from other car lines adopting the system and the unlimited field for its adoption in all cold storage plants makes the services of the cars almost unlimited.

People who have money to invest should not miss seeing the Auto-refrigerator car while it is here. The attendant at car distributes pamphlets setting forth details of interest.

MONKEY CAUSED QUICK WEDDING

Interesting Theatrical Story Of The Manner Cupid Shoots His Little Arrows.

When E. A. Wolf, the advance agent for "A Girl from Dixie" company, was in the city yesterday he told a clever story of how a monkey was a cause for matrimony. It seems that recently in New York the chorus and part of the cast of "A Girl from Dixie" company were holding rehearsal in the Lyric theatre. Miss Day, who has the leading part, had a pet monkey which she had brought to the theatre to show to friends. During the rehearsal the monkey was tied in a dressing room and in some way managed to escape. At one of the critical moments in the play Miss Day played her part peeping in an upper window and promptly fainted. Miss Maze Bogie, one of the chorus, pluckily tried to reach Mr. Monk by way of the fire escape. She was a new member of the company but a protegee of Miss Day's and wanted to help her friend in her trouble. Down climbed Mr. Monk; down climbed Miss Bogie. Mr. Monk dropped on top of a neighboring fence, Miss Bogie onto the ground where she promptly fainted. Behind Miss Bogie was Frank Paret, the musical director. He promptly picked the unconscious girl up and took her to the dressing room of the theatre where she was revived and given home. Mr. Paret accompanying her. Then it seems he fell in love with her and after obtaining her consent walked to the Little Church Around the Corner and they were married. All due to the monkey.

TEN PER CENT TAX INCREASE

THIS YEAR OWING TO EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.

RATE OF $12.85 A THOUSAND

Total Levy Amounts To $114,040
Compared With $104,575
Last Year.

Owing to several improvements, including the Court street bridge, which the city has undertaken this year the taxes will be about ten and a half per cent higher. In some of the sewerage districts the rate will be of course considerably higher but the actual percentage of increase for the average tax will, according to City Treasurer Fathens, be 10.6.

Comparison of Levies
The tax levy of city and ward purposes last year amounted to $104,575. This year the levy will be $114,040, an increase of $9,465. The average rate last year was $11.62 per thousand. This year it will be $12.85 per thousand.

H. G. WEEKS WILL BE BELOIT COACH

Famous Syracuse Player Will Take Charge Of The Gridiron Team Of The Lino City College.

Beloit college football this fall will be under the direction of H. G. Weeks of Syracuse University fame if plans do not miscarry. Captain Crane has been instructed to close the deal with the eastern man to come to Beloit about Sept. 10 to take charge of the squad which will be called to Beloit for early practice two weeks before the opening of the fall term.

Captain Crane has been in correspondence with Mr. Weeks for some time and the board of control has decided that it would not do better than to engage him. He was coach for Hobart college last year and the team defeated every eleven in its class, completely reversing its previous performances. He played on the Syracuse team when it astonished the eastern schools by winning every game played and has been a tutor under Glass of Yale.

While prospects for Beloit in the way of new material are somewhat vague it is probable that the college will have an average team and great hopes are based on the work of the eastern coach.

Edwards Hart, captain of the track team, has commenced his quest for runners, jumpers and weight men and now has three quarter-milers for the relay team, each of whom run their distance in less than fifty-three seconds.

The prospects of showing up as well in a dual meet with the University this year as two years ago are bright. Nearly all of last year's men expect to return.

All that was needed, was the strengthening of the present system, which had raised the country to power and greatness.

The New York Sun has come out for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. It waited until it read what Judge Parker had to say and then made up its mind.

When Madison university students trouble they cause their friends by having a good time, and landing in court they may stop such practices.

A Milwaukee paper states that there had been a wailing and knocking of teeth in the administration headquarters since the supreme court said they had jurisdiction.

When this cruel war of suspense ends and Roosevelt is re-elected, how many men will tell you they told you so?

The democrats in counting on Wisconsin must not forget how the G. O. P. elephant sat down on them two years ago.

Bryan was most pleased with his friends La Follette roasting of the republican party in Wisconsin. So say the press dispatches.

The democrats hope to carry New York, Indiana, and Wisconsin if—but here the trouble comes—IF.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee Sentinel: Russell Sage is 88, and working harder than ever. Uncle Russell should learn to control that inordinate appetite of his.

Seranton Tribune: Mr. Kipling's reference to the Bible in his recent poem was at least praiseworthy. Most of his efforts have a tendency to make one forget the good book.

Chippewa Herald: Mr. Parker uses language to conceal his thoughts and Mr. Bryan to conceal his tomato.

Chicago Chronicle: A man who tried to kill a well-known burlesque actor on a railroad train the other day is said to have been insane, but a good many theatergoers will be disposed to doubt it.

La Crosse Leader-Press: Bishop Potter insists that only good whiskey and beer will be sold at his new saloon at New York. Here's a chance for the La Crosse breweries to score.

Atchison Globe: Women are more patient with an amateur singing than men. Men will say: "Cut it out," but women will say: "How lovely."

Racine Journal: Venezuela, will have to cough up lively over that matter of its forcible seizure of American property in the asphalt beds at Lake Bermudez.

Milwaukee News: Great Britain was awful mad at Russia, but it has cooled off sufficiently to see the reasonableness of fighting the traditional foe while Japan is doing such a good job all alone.

Madison Journal: J. Wilbur Chapman, who is expected to lead a huge revival in Milwaukee, may learn in time that no truly great man carries an initial on the front end of his name.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Democratic nominee for congressional delegate in Oklahoma says he will kiss every baby in the territory to win the election. Now is the time for the Oklahoma babies to get muzzles.

El Paso Herald: Phebe's predecessor as minister of the interior was also assassinated, and yet St. Petersburg is full of candidates yammering after the job. It is fatal but it's fat.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: Why not syndicate the spellbinding and send it through the country by the megaphone route? The voice of the blunder would never grow husky and wouldn't be disturbed by the loud and prolonged applause.

Chippewa Independent: The most contemptible class in politics today is what is called the handwagon politician. As soon as the newspapers announce that a man is certain of a nomination, then they begin to fall over each other in their efforts to get on the loaded wagon. There is a great deal of that going on in Wisconsin politics this fall.

Denver Post: The attention of our esteemed country editors is called to a pleasing precedent established by a Fort Worth restaurant keeper. He shot and killed a doctor and took the amount due from his pocket.

Evening Wisconsin: The prospective launching of the armored cruiser Milwaukee will of course revive the question, "Would not beer be more appropriate than champagne?" There is a chance for yellow journalism to score a scoop by ascertaining Bishop Potter's views on the subject.

Washington Times: A man leaned up against a cage of man eating tigers in New Jersey to see if the press agent told the truth, and one of the tigers chewed a piece two inches square out of his leg. Some men show their foolishness by credulity, others by skepticism.

Minneapolis Tribune: Governor Carter, of Hawaii, complains that annexation to the United States has not done what it was expected to do for that island commonwealth. Perhaps too much was expected, as in the case of the farmer who said he did not get as big a crop as he expected, but then he didn't expect that he would.

Kenosha News: Don't argue with a man by calling him names because he don't believe as you do in politics. Show him, he is mistaken in a gentlemanly way; ridicule him and call him a fool and you have made an enemy and a strong believer in the opposite faith who will work hard to defeat the party representing your principles, right or wrong.

Waupaca Post: Because John H.

Young, a clerk in the secretary of state's office, told the truth about a conversation between John M. Olin and James Shaw, which did not bolster up certain statements which had been made by Shaw, he was discharged without notice by the secretary of state. The present administration evidently has no use for anyone who will tell the truth reflects upon the third term ticket, and the manner of its being brought forth.

Whitewater Register: Hon. E. C. Wall and wife have been guests of nominee Parker at Esopus, Mr. Wall gave him assurance that La Follette had shattered the republican party in Wisconsin so badly that the democrats were almost certain to carry the state. Of course Robert has given the republicans a bad job, but it is by no means as bad as Mr. Wall thinks. Wall was always an opportunist, a regular rainbow chaser; in 1896 he fully believed a week before the election that the democrats were going to carry Wisconsin; he said he "could not explain it but it was in the air." And it stayed in the air to the tune of 104,000 majority for McKinley.

Winneconne Local: A big buzz has been made at Madison over the fact that the state treasurer or his clerks made a blunder in bookkeeping, causing a shortage in the state funds which was at once balanced by the treasurer out of his own pocket, for all of which the state powers that be are up in arms to get the treasurer's name off the Half Breed state ticket. There is no law violated by the mere act of consulting a blunder. The attorney general's office is found reeking with railroad passes and no one is asked to resign and no scandal is looked up around the capital. But a law has been violated. Tweedledum—tweedledee. Political nee cess tee.

TRAIN LEAVES AT AN EARLY HOUR

DEPARTMENT OF WIS. STARTS FOR BOSTON TOMORROW.

MANY JANESVILLE PEOPLE GO

E. B. Wolcott Post Of Milwaukee Will Act As Official Escort For Commander Norcross.

Janesville will be well represented on the Wisconsin special train which leaves this city for Boston early tomorrow morning. While the W. H. Sargent Post will not be officially represented still many members and their wives and friends will take advantage of the privilege of travelling on the Wisconsin department commander's special car and go to the great G. A. R. gathering in Boston. The trip planned is an ideal one. The party will leave Chicago tomorrow morning at nine and will travel by train to Kingston. They will then take boat to Montreal, passing through the Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence regions arriving at their Canadian destination at six-thirty Sunday evening. From Montreal to Boston the trip will be by rail again. In Boston the Wisconsin headquarters will be at the Coplay Square hotel.

Department Commander Norcross said this afternoon that Wisconsin would be second in the line of march according to states, but that he did not know what arrangements would be made for the different posts in the state as regards their order. It was his opinion that so few posts would be represented by any sort of a delegation that all would be combined with the E. B. Wolcott post of Milwaukee who are to act as official escort to the department commander. Col. E. O. Kimberley, assistant adjutant general, stated that while the Janesville, Madison, La Crosse, Fond du Lac, Appleton, Oshkosh and E. B. Wolcott post of Milwaukee would all be represented by members still the posts would not officially be represented and they would fall in line behind the E. B. Wolcott post of Milwaukee and march simply as the Wisconsin department, headed by the Milwaukee band and Department Commander Piny Norcross and staff. J. L. Bear who has charge of the transportation of the Wisconsin department this afternoon had two long signs placed on the car which is to carry the party with the wording Wisconsin Department. Those who will go from Janesville on the car are Department Commander Piny Norcross, Assistant Adjutant General and Mrs. E. O. Kimberley, J. L. Bear and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hough, Mrs. Sanborn and Lawrence Sanborn, Mrs. Ester and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith, Miss E. Grundy, Mrs. John Manning, Miss Maria Gibbs, and a party of twelve from Waupun. Bertha is being taken in the name of J. D. Hinkley and Mr. Martin and wife of Mineral Point, and Messrs. De Groot, Whiteley, Williams, Nicholas G. Hilton and Orville Morse. The Madison car will be attached at this city and the two cars will be switched to the Grand Trunk road tomorrow morning.

VETERANS ENJOY DAY AT CLINTON

Soldiers and Sailors of Rock County Held Their Annual Reunion Yesterday.

The annual reunion of the Rock county soldiers and sailors at Clinton yesterday proved a big success in every way. A delegation of nearly fifty from Janesville participated in the picnic held in a grove at the edge of town. Commander Piny Norcross and J. F. Carle were among the speakers and both made addresses that pleased their hearers. After the program had been finished reminiscences and stories were in order and a delightful time was enjoyed until half-past seven o'clock in the evening when the Janesville and Beloit visitors took their departure.

Officers elected were: President, M. Chamberlain of Milton Junction; vice president, Mr. Howe of Beloit; secretary, W. J. McIntyre of Janesville; treasurer, W. G. Palmer of Janesville; chaplain, J. F. Carle of Janesville. Milton Junction was selected as the place for the meeting next year. The veterans carried away pleasing impressions of Congressman Cooper's speech, the remarks of J. F. Carle of Janesville and John Hayes of Oregon, the fine vocal music of Mr. Howarth of Clinton, and the elaborate decorations which the residents of Clinton provided for the occasion.

GRIM SOUVENIRS OF PICKPOCKETS

Three Pocket-books Found Under Golden Glow Bushes in Thos. Erickson's Yard.

While cutting flowers yesterday afternoon from the golden glow bushes on the premises of Thomas Erickson, general foreman of the North-Western shops, at 406 Washington street, members of the family came upon three pocket-books and a miscellaneous assortment of cards and papers which they had apparently once contained. The leather was badly rotted and the metal flashings corroded from long exposure and as no money was contained in them the discoverers at once came to the conclusion that they were souvenirs of the big raid by pickpockets at the time of the Ringling circus here in June. The books seem to be of the pattern used by ladies but the owners have not been found. They were turned over to the police this morning.

Regulates Baptism of Children.

The Swiss government has decided no longer to permit parents to baptize their offspring by fantastic names. This law has just been exercised at St. Gall with regard to two children, one of whom was baptized May 1, while the other had been named by its Italian progenitors "Ribello," rebel or revolutionary. The names were condemned and the children have been legally rebaptized.

BUSY DAYS FOR THE TEACHERS

INSTITUTE AT HIGH SCHOOL PROVING ATTRACTIVE.

PROF. W. A. UPHAM LECTURED

Last Evening On "Radium And The X-Ray" To A Crowded Hall.—Fine Program Tuesday.

Prof. W. A. Upham of Whitewater, appearing under the auspices of the Rock county teachers' institute, gave a very interesting lecture on "Radium and the X-Ray" last evening. Supt. Buell also gave a very entertaining discussion of "Historic Places in and About Washington." Every seat in the high school auditorium was occupied. Next Tuesday evening Supt. Walker of the State School for the Deaf will speak on "The Boy and His Sweetheart." The Lyric Male quartette will sing and there will be other interesting numbers on the program. The public is cordially invited.

Most Successful Meeting
In spite of the fact that there are about twenty-five teachers from two districts of Rock county who are attending the summer school of the Whitewater normal and have been excused, there is an attendance of 152 at the institute. This is much larger than was anticipated and considerably larger than the institute last year. The regular exercises conducted everyday are devoted to two distinct lines of work; one having to do with the information and facts which the teacher must possess, and the other with the method and order of presentation to the scholar. Arithmetic, grammar, geography, history, agriculture, library work, and civics government are all subjected to these two modes of treatment.

There are several suggestions from Dan, Green, and Walworth counties in attendance. Of the 152, eight are men. Supt. Buell is conductor and he is assisted by Prof. R. E. Loveland of Burlington, Principal W. A. Clark of Elkerton, and Superintendent Hemmingsway and Antisdel. At any time during the session a sudden visitation of some member of the state department of education is anticipated. The state authorities keep a careful watch on all of these institutes but give no notice of the time when they may be expected to look in upon the proceedings.

ASKS AMERICA TO AID BRITAIN

NECESSARY TO PROTECT SHIPS

Vessels Carrying Cargoes of Foodstuffs and Raw Cotton Should Be Protected From Arbitrary Schedule Laid Down by Muscovites.

London, Aug. 12.—In the houses of parliament Thursday both Premier Balfour and Lord Lansdowne clearly showed that Great Britain is determined to permit no further shelling of British vessels by Russian warships on the plea that they carry contraband of war and cannot be navigated quickly to a Russian port. Mr. Balfour echoed the declaration of Gibson Bowles, conservative, when he termed the sinking of the Knight Commander by the Vladivostok squadron an "international outrage." This opinion of the British government, the premier said, already had been conveyed to the Russian government.

Seeks Aid of America.
James Bryce, liberal, urged that joint action be taken by the United States and Great Britain in dealing with Russia. Because of the arbitrary character of the Russian schedule of contraband he declared such action was necessary to insure that raw cotton and foodstuffs be protected on the high seas, when such goods were intended for the actual use of belligerents.

The marquis of Ripon, in the house of lords, questioned Foreign Secretary Lansdowne on the same subjects. In reply Lord Lansdowne said the government already had explained its views as to the illegality of the actions of the St. Petersburg and Smolensk. Russia, he added, had sent instructions to desist from similar seizures.

In regard to other vessels of the volunteer fleet passing the Dardanelles in the future, Lord Lansdowne declared Russia has agreed the vessels shall fly the Russian commercial flag during the whole voyage and not carry armaments or munitions of war and not be transformed into cruisers.

Will Protect Rights.
As to the "more serious question" of Russian views of contraband of war, the foreign secretary pointed out that the regulations issued by Russia at the beginning greatly amplified the definition of contraband hitherto accepted by Great Britain, and he believed, by most other countries.

The government had refused to admit that the destruction of the Knight Commander was justified, he declared, or that the proceedings of the prize court were valid. The cumulative result of the Russian actions was extremely serious and was having a most injurious effect on the commerce of Great Britain. His impression, however, was that both governments would be glad to discover reasonable means of settling their differences.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Bunny Was Too Smart

Bunny Cottontail was a hungry "bun." There was no denying that. He did not try to deny it, but set out at once to fill that aching void.

Presently he came upon the trail of a good ripe turnip. His sniffy little nose told him it was turnip, and presently also he came upon that turnip. But what a bitter disappointment to find that it lay inside a trap!

"I HAVE IT."

by the cord of the trap, but on how just to get that turnip without being got himself.

He studied and studied, and the more he studied the hungrier he got. "I have it!" cried he at last. "Just watch me. First you pull one peg like this, then the other like this." And, snatching his head to his work, he pulled out first one and then the other. The cord tightened up, drawing the turnip with it. "And now," said Bun, "you pull out the last, and you have the prize." Grasping the pin with his teeth, he pulled slowly and carefully. The pin came at the first pull, the trap sprung up, and, alas for our best laid plans, the turnip went tuck! caught securely in the corn, it hung dangling in the air too high to be reached. "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," sang a jaybird in the branches.

"That's so," said Bun sadly. "Next time get a stick!"—Worcester Post.

REFUGE IN GOVERNOR'S HOUSE

Surrounded by Officials Who Fire a Volley at the Fugitive, the Desperate Man Puts a Bullet Into His Brain and Dies.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 12.—As a climax to his desperate life of crime, Isaac Gravelle, the notorious Montana train wrecker, Thursday seriously wounded Deputy Sheriff Tony Korizek and then blew out his brains in the basement of Governor Joseph K. Toole's house, where he had sought refuge after making a daring attempt to escape from the Lewis and Clark county jail.

Gravelle, who was held for robbing a powder-house near Helena last September of gun powder, which he used in wrecking a Northern Pacific train, was considered one of the most dangerous characters that ever carried on criminal work in Montana. He was on trial, and it was at the time of his transfer from the jail to the court room that he attempted his escape.

Shoots Deputy.

As Jailer Jones opened his cell door and told the criminal to come out, he noticed that the man carried one hand behind him. As he had been used to jokes from the man, he was not at all surprised when Gravelle said, as he stepped out of the door: "Throw up your hands or I'll shoot."

The jailer laughed at what he supposed to be his usual jest and was about to use force on the man, when he was again warned to throw up his hands.

Makes His Escape.

As the two rapid shots rang through the jail a general alarm was sounded, and armed assistants, came running from all directions. Before they arrived at the scene, however, Gravelle knocked the unarmed jailer senseless, and, taking his keys, as well as the revolver of the wounded deputy, made a rush out of the jail and reached an alley which runs past the rear of Gov. Toole's home.

As he sprang into the narrow thoroughfare several deputies emptied their guns at the fast-fleeing man. Turning occasionally, the desperado would return the fire of his pursuers, but at last the men closed up on him so fast that he took refuge in the basement of Gov. Toole's home.

Harried behind the furnace, Gravelle defied any of the men to approach within pistol shot, and for a few moments held the posse at bay. Safe in His Ambuscade.

A fusillade of lead was directed in the direction of the man without penetrating the improvised armor with which Gravelle had surrounded himself.

Finally, as there was no further response from the criminal the deputies entered further and found that the man had used his last cartridge to blow out his brains.

Gravelle was convicted some five months ago of sending threatening letters to officials of the Northern Pacific railroad, from whom he demanded $50,000. It was proved that he had dynamited Northern Pacific trains and property in an effort to blackmail all the company.

After spending fully $50,000 for the services of the best detectives of the country, he was at last captured and sentenced for ten years in the penitentiary. Gravelle had been twice in the penitentiary before.

Sheriff O'Connell does not know how Gravelle got his gun, but believes it was smuggled into him by a trusty or a visitor.

HER CHOICE A SURPRISE.

Miss Pauline Astor's Engagement to an Untitled Englishman.

Miss Pauline Astor's coming marriage to Henry Herbert Spender-Clay, a former captain in the crack British regiment called the Life Guards, is the latest social sensation in England. The public has been waiting for an announcement that Miss Astor was affianced to a duke or an earl or perhaps even to a prince, for it was known that it was William Waldorf Astor's ambition that his daughter should marry a title of high degree and ally the family perhaps with some royal house.

But the announcement which appeared a few days ago in Mr. Astor's Pall Mall Gazette was of quite a different character from that which this multi-millionaire might have liked to see. It is inferred that Miss Astor had made her own choice and that sentimental reasons rather than social ambitions have influenced her selection of a husband, for Mr. Spender-Clay's position in society is not regarded as equal to her own. He has no title. His father, a rich brewer, left him a fortune which gives him an income of $150,000 a year, but there is of course no necessity for an Astor to marry for money.

Spender-Clay first acquired notoriety from a peculiar scandal with which he was connected some years ago. He was duped by a close friend, Lord William Nevill, into signing notes to the amount of over $50,000. When the notes came due, the money lender who had advanced the funds threatened suit against Spender-Clay. The latter refused to pay, claiming his signature was obtained by fraud. The incident led to the conviction of Lord Nevill of forgery and his imprisonment. A short time after this Spender-Clay came before the public again in connection with the "ragging" or hazing, scandals in the Life guards. He was one of the officers who were charged with maltreatment of subordinates, and had to resign his commission.

Miss Astor is now twenty-four, is a brunette, with a sweet face and pleasant manner. She is famous for her jewels and at a drawing room given by the late Queen Victoria wore a necklace said to have cost $90,000. As William Waldorf Astor's only daughter she is heir to a part of his great fortune of $100,000,000.

Small Island Owned by America. Wake Island in the North Pacific, which the United States owns, is barely one square mile in area and has little economic value except for the guano deposits on its rocky surface and possibly as a stepping stone of cable connection between the United States and its Asiatic possessions.

Sign of Fine Weather. In early summer, when the weather is showery, you may perhaps notice through breaks in the rain clouds an appearance of densish white cloudlets in small, irregular tufts brightly irradiated by sunshine. The children call it mackerel sky. Its real name is Cirro-cumulus, and it is a sure sign of heat, and probably fine weather.

A Garden Suggestion. A good way to plant pole beans is with sweet corn, says Country Life in America. Plant the beans in the same hill with the corn (after the corn is up); and the beans chamber all over the cornstalks after the ears are harvested. It saves the bother and expense of poles, and we think cornstalks look better than bean poles.
